Heartwarming Story From NB Resident

The following excerpt was a post from Dejuante's family:

“Wow there is so much to say about this photo. First off it has only been a little over 1 week since Dejuantes cardiac arrest accident and he is already out the hospital. Next with all the negativity going around about police officers, we never get a chance to hear about the good that these officers do. Sunday August 14, Officer Helm was the first responding officer on scene. Because of Officer Helm, Dejuante is alive today. He had an AED machine in his car and was able to successfully use it on Dejuante and bring him back to life. There is no black and white when it comes to saving a persons life. Officer Helm never gave up on Dejuante and he deserves the recognition.”

Thank you Officer Helm!
